My scholarship focuses on the impact of abuse, violence, and substance use on marginalized populations, and seeks to positively influence practitioner behavior, service delivery systems, and policy in ways that promote survivor health and well-being. I engage in interdisciplinary community-based research utilizing qualitative, quantitative, and mixed methodologies to expand scientific knowledge and prepare future social work researchers and practitioners.

M.S.S.W., Social Work, University of Texas, Austin, TX (1995)

B.A., Psychology, University of North Carolina, Greensboro, NC (1992)

Research Projects and Grants

Developing a Comprehensive Training Protocol for Stakeholders Serving Trafficked Youth (2022-2023). Co-Principal Investigator (with Allison Dunnigan, Emma Hetherington, and Jennifer Elkins)

Funded $25,000 by the Center on Human Trafficking Research & Outreach Faculty Research Seed Grant, University of Georgia School of Social Work.

Develop a protocol for comprehensive and on-going training on human trafficking, secondary trauma, and trauma-informed care for law enforcement, DFCS employees, probation officers, attorneys, judges, and others involved in court-centered responses for domestic minor human trafficking and commercial and sexual exploitation of children survivors to improve the quality and appropriateness of services for youth who have experienced or are at-risk of human trafficking and their families.

Chartering a Course for Economic Mobility and Responsible Parenting (2021-2023).

Co-Principal Investigator (with Orion Mowbray)

Funded $143,147 by the Division of Child Support Services, Georgia Department of Human Services. Evaluation of an intervention to improve financial literacy and understanding of the child support system among youth formerly in the foster care system with the goal of delaying parenting and increasing educational attainment.

Expansion of Practitioner Education Grant (2020-2022).

Subcontractor

Funded $10,000 by the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA). Goal is to assess the integration of substance use disorder content into the MSW curriculum and to measure student competencies in working with people experiencing substance use disorders.

Innovation in Delivery of Prenatal Care to Women with Opioid Use Disorders: The Centering Pregnancy Model (2019-2021).

Co-Principal Investigator (with Grace Bagwell Adams)

Funded $20,000 by Georgia Clinical Translational Science Alliance (CTSA) Community Engagement 2019 Community Academic Research Pilot Grants Program

Project will test the effectiveness of a supportive prenatal program on improving maternal and child outcomes in women with opioid use disorders.

Reproductive Decision-Making among Women with Opioid Use Disorders (2018-2020).

Co-Principal Investigator (with Rebecca H. Stone)

Funded $6,500 through the UGA College of Pharmacy Randy Ellison Community Pharmacy Fund and the Morgan Fund in Pharmacy Practice

Project involves qualitative interviews to develop a better understanding of both contraception use and the presence of reproductive coercion in the lives of women with opioid use disorders.

Developing a Risk-Prediction Model for Licensing Facilities that Serve Medicaid-enrolled Children (2018-2020).

Co-Investigator (PI: Julie Donahue)

Funded $23,448 by the Pennsylvania Department of Human Services.

Examination of current data sources for their usability as indicators of performance of group homes, treatment foster care, and residential treatment facilities in the state of Pennsylvania and to develop and test a predictive model to identify potentially poor performing facilities.

Exploring Home-Visiting for Opioid Addicted Mothers and Their Babies (2017-2018).

Funded $60,000 by the Staunton Farm Foundation.

Principal Investigator

Funding to explore a home visiting model for mothers with opioid use problems and their newborns. The model involves collaboration between social work and pharmacy and includes both opioid agonist management and psychosocial support to reduce opioid relapse, improve maternal mental health, build attachment between mother and baby, track child development, and prevent child welfare system involvement.

Sleep in Youth who have Aged out of Foster Care: Impact on Mental Health (2016-2018).

Principal Investigator

Funded $10,348 by the University of Pittsburgh Central Research Development Fund.

Competitive funding received to collect objective and subjective measures of sleep in youth aging out of foster care. Project will also explore whether sleep quality and quantity mediates health and mental health outcomes in these youth.

Developing Interdisciplinary Collaborations in Gender and Violence Research (2015-2016).

Co-Principal Investigator (with Sara A. Goodkind)

Funded $24,790 by the Vice Provost's Office of Research at the University of Pittsburgh.

Competitive funding received to build interdisciplinary research collaborations on gender and violence across the university by developing a speaker series and a working conference with national and local contributor.

Evaluation of the Implementation of Developmental and Mental Health Screening in Pennsylvania's Child Welfare Services (2009-2013).

Principal Investigator

Funded $578,719 by the Office of Children, Youth, and Families, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Evaluated a statewide screening for developmental and socio-emotional problems among all children from birth to 5 years old in the child welfare system.

An Evaluation of an Innovative Program for Youth with Substance Abuse and Mental Health Problems Aging out of Foster Care (2009-2012).

Co-Principal Investigator (with Mary E. Rautkis)

Funded $72,658 by the Venango County Children and Youth Services, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

Collaborated with a rural county to evaluate a program developed for aging-out youth with a history of involvement with multiple social service agencies.

Family Group Decision Making: How Does Race Influence Referrals, Satisfaction, and Outcomes in a National Sample? (2007-2009).

Co-Principal Investigator (with Julie S. McCrae)

Funded $8,229 by the Center for Race and Social Problems, University of Pittsburgh

Analyzed data from the National Survey of Child and Adolescent Well-being to examine how race influenced child welfare-involved families' referrals to and satisfaction with Family Group Decision Making.

Does the Assistance of a Child Welfare Advocate Help Battered Women with an Open Child Maltreatment Investigation Negotiate Family Service Planning? (2007-2008).

Principal Investigator

Research funded $9,250 by the School of Social Work, University of Pittsburgh

Conducted in-depth interviews with child welfare caseworkers to ask about their experiences working with families experiencing co-occurring child maltreatment and intimate partner violence.

A Population-Based Investigation of the Prevalence of Children's Exposure to Domestic Violence and the Co-occurrence of Child Maltreatment. (2003-2005)

Principal Investigator (mentored by Carol W. Spigner)

Research funded $50,000 by Administration for Children and Families, Grants for Doctoral Student-Initiated Research in Child Abuse and Neglect, Children's Bureau

Examined the co-occurrence of child maltreatment and exposure to intimate partner violence among all cases investigated by law enforcement across a large county.
